

Short Biography

Dr Yan He is Head of the Chinese Section at Cambridge University Library. Previously, she worked at George Washington University, Ohio University and Free University Berlin. Yan got a PhD in history from Peking University with a research interest on Sino-US relations history during the Cold War. Her recent projects include Digital Collections for Chinese Studies that she has been collaborating with University of Erlangen and Nürnberg, University of Göttingen and Capital Normal University, Index to the Periodicals Published during the Late Qing and Republican Eras, and a co-authored book project on reading Chinese sources.

